

Pick up your blank Gnome Door at the HPAC and show us your creativity.

The Blank door should probably be sanded a bit on the edges and primed with outdoor primer if you have it, even on the edges and back side, just to protect it from the weather better.

Then decide on your design.

You can paint fancy hinges, a window in the door, a gnome peeking out the door, , make that would grain and joins of the wood look realistic, what ever your heart desires. Than find a suitable tree to attach it to, one in your back yard or one along a public forested walkway. Add a stone path to it or other embellishments if you would like to take it further.

Other styles /shapes of doors may be made by Herman Prior volunteers if these become popular, I'm actually hoping they do, I think they would be fun to come across in our city.

Have fun.
